UEG Week Virtual 2020:	October 11 – 13, 2020

The UEG Scientific Committee invites you to submit your research for the Late-breaking abstract category. We understand that the most exciting and rapidly advancing research may not have been ready at the time of the regular abstract submission deadline. The late breaking abstract category permits later submissions with new research outcome, especially in the face of the COVID-19 situation. As part of the submission, authors must explain why the scientific research is novel and significant enough to be considered for a late breaker session.

Abstracts should be submitted as Late-breaking abstracts if they meet the following criteria:

- The scientific research was not completed and could not have been submitted at the time of the regular abstract submission deadline on May 15, 2020.
- The abstract contains research that is original and has not been previously published nor has been submitted to, presented at or is under consideration for any other scientific meeting taking place before UEG Week Virtual 2020.
- The work is novel, of major significance, evidence-based and has scientific merit.
- The abstract has not been previously published as a FULL PAPER.
