UEG Permission for Publication

1. The authors of abstracts (hereinafter “Author”), all presenters, whether invited faculty (speaker, chair and expert) or abstract (oral or poster) presenters (any of the foregoing hereinafter individually and collectively “Presenter”) at the UEG Week, whether held virtually or as physical meeting, grant UEG GmbH (hereinafter “UEG”) for an indefinite period of time, without territorial limitations and without any right to compensation, the right to make the abstract or any other piece of work, demonstration, lecture, (pre-recorded) footage or streaming thereof (hereinafter “Work”) available to the public as well as to all other users, in particular via e-learning portals, the UEG website, any other websites operated by UEG or any of its industry partners, as well as via social media such as for example YouTube, Facebook, Twitter, etc., or any other website related to medical issues. This right on the part of UEG in particular includes the following:
 - a) the right to computerize and save live streams and the Work partially or entirely in electronic databases, electronic data networks, telephone services etc. and to make it available to a large number of users by digital or other storage and transmission technology. In particular, this includes making the Work available to so called e-learning-portals where the Work can be received partially or entirely on individual demand (especially by push and pull services) by television, computer, cell phone and other hardware on all communication channels (cable, wireless, microwave, satellite) and all transmission technologies (GSM, UMTS etc.) as well as all protocols (i.e. TCP/IP, http, WAP, HTML, XML etc.);
 - b) the right to reproduce and distribute editions of the Work or parts of it that are produced by the use of digital storage- and reproduction media, independent of the technical equipment and enclosing all digital or interactive systems in accordance with the current and future state of technology (such as CD-ROM, CD-I, E-book and other kinds of electronic publishing media, including the production of print copies);
 - c) the right to edit, cut and rearrange parts of the (pre-recorded) footage and/or streaming of the Work;
 - d) the right to archive the Work by itself or within the framework of other Works and forms of utilization in tangible or intangible form. Moreover, the Work may be added to collections and/or databases and may be made available to the public in any form (e.g. online-services);
 - e) the right to make the Work or parts thereof available to industry partners – alone or together with Work from other Presenters or Authors – as a link to be embedded on the industry partner’s website and promoted on their social media channels. The industry partner is of course not allowed to edit, cut and rearrange parts of the (pre-recorded) footage of the Work.
 - f) the right to translate the Work into any other language; UEG will take appropriate measures to ensure that the meaning of the content is not altered.
2. The Author/Presenter explicitly consents that UEG may transfer all contractual rights partially or entirely to a third party implementing these rights.

3. The Author/Presenter shall be responsible for ensuring that the content presented or published by UEG is accurate and complies with the applicable scientific standards. The Author/Presenter warrants that the Work and content presented does not infringe on any rights of third parties, in particular that no copyrights or personal and privacy rights of third parties are infringed on, and that all data protection provisions are adhered to. In case any permissions of third parties must be obtained prior to presenting or publishing the Work or content, the Author/Presenter shall solely be responsible to do so. The Author/Presenter hereby warrants to comply with his/her obligations under to this agreement and shall hold harmless and indemnify UEG for any breach thereof.
4. The Work will be archived long-term via DOI-System (Digital Object Identifier) and will be made available to the public. UEG may charge the user with a modest fee to cover its costs.
5. No remuneration or any other compensation shall be paid to the Author/Presenter for the use of the rights granted to UEG in relation to the Work.
6. UEG will name the Author/Presenter of the Work in an appropriate manner.
7. This Agreement and the rights and obligations of the parties under this Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the substantive law of the Republic of Austria, with the exception of the CISG and Austrian international private law and the Rome-I-Regulation. The ordinary courts of Vienna, Austria, shall have exclusive jurisdiction to settle any dispute arising out or in connection with this contract.
